Helping people find hope

Volunteers: Hope in action

Volunteers create a community of safety and trust where grieving children and adults find hope and healing.

Volunteers may help:

- Greet families when they arrive.
- Serve food during meeting nights.
- Facilitate grief support groups with children and adults.
- Assist with special projects like quilting.

Volunteers are the heart of our program. They make a real difference in the lives of grieving families.

You don't need prior experience. If you have a compassionate heart and a desire to help others navigate grief, please consider joining us as a volunteer.

Getting started

Reach out to us to learn more about our programs and how you can help.

Meet a volunteer coordinator near you to hear what's available.

Participate in our comprehensive program, equipping you with the knowledge and skills needed to support those we serve.

Join our compassionate team and get ongoing support from experienced volunteers. Together, we make a difference in the lives of grieving people.
